

A botanical shoe and purse are constructed with silver leaf, orchids, succulents, sea star fern, viburnum berries, and rosemary.

Françoise constructed this botanical ring with succulents, black pussy willows, grevillea, muscari, and privet berries.

PHOTO CREDIT: Ted Mishima

For this bridal bouquet, a welder creates a small cage, which Françoise spray paints and uses a zip tie to attach a bouquet holder to. The mechanics are covered with whimsical botanical material and a detailed arrangement is made using salpiglossis, chocolate cosmos, sweetpeas, alchimella, succulents, penstemon, eucalyptus berries, and feathers.

A woodland arrangement consists of bark, staghorn fern, seastar fern, tillandsia, maidenhair fern, succulents, fritallaria, acorns, and kale.